

WHY CONSIDER A CHANGE?

Fruit Heights uses a very unique election system known as a caucus system. It is a historical tradition that many residents have loved. It has worked well in a small community to encourage individuals to run for open council seats or the office of mayor.

However, as our city has grown, more and more residents have called asking for an explanation of the system, and for a change to a primary election system to be considered. Many residents have expressed their belief that the current, historical caucus system does not effectively serve the residents of today, or the community at large.

For this reason, the city council would like to hear from more residents. The council created a survey, asking residents which election system they would prefer in their city. Results from the survey will not create an immediate decision or change, but rather serve as another step in gathering feedback and information for the council to consider.
